

Announcing the Whoopi Goldberg Female Empowerment Award

Luxembourg, 29th March, 2018: Arch Summit is proud to announce the Whoopi Goldberg Female Empowerment Award.

Tomorrow Street, an innovation centre and joint venture between Vodafone and the Luxembourg Government, will be hosting its first annual Arch Summit on the 3rd and 4th of May 2018 in Luxembourg. The Arch Summit will feature startup competitions and award over $300.000 in prize money. One of the awards is dedicated to Females in Tech, which aims to empower female entrepreneurs.

“Who embodies female empowerment better than Whoopi Goldberg? Having won an Oscar, a Tony, an Emmy, and a Grammy, Whoopi is an unprecedented source of motivation for people everywhere. As the first woman ever to host the Academy Awards solo, she has broken barriers and continues to inspire the next generation of female leaders.” – Warrick Cramer, CEO Tomorrow Street

“It truly is an honour having my name associated with this award. For me, female empowerment has never been about making women stronger, instead it is about making people see the strength that is already there. Tomorrow Street and the Arch Summit recognises this difference” – Whoopi Goldberg
